Ochelata's Lil Buckaroos Clubhouse Fun Science Task Cards

These are simple tasks cards I use for my in home daycare. I use them for the older kids (school-aged children) when little ones are doing other things. They are rather simple and kids can do on them on their own (as long as they can read). If your age group cannot read then I would recommend doing this science fun while others are napping and you can assist them. Once the younger wake up, the older children can show them what they have done and let those little ones enjoy. (what a nice surprise the little ones will wake up to)

Teacher/Caregiver Information

-You can print them on business cards or regular paper and laminate them to make them last longer if you don't have an access to a laminate machine, just use packing tape to help them last longer ☺ (cheaper alternative)

-The task cards are rather explanatory themselves.

-Enjoy them I will be making more for my own personal use and love sharing what I have because we all know these things can get expensive. If you have things you would like to share to please let me know. I can share on my website and give you full credit. ☺ That way we can work together in finding free learning materials so we can spend more money on other things or daycares need
